Raising a Language from Stone

An evening of Galician poetry, translation, music and albariño!

Two Galician poets, María do Cebreiro and Daniel Salgado, read and discuss their work and how it experiments with poetic form and the relationship between language, land, culture and society. Their translator, Irish poet Keith Payne, and musician Su Garrido Pombo will accompany us too.

The event is presented by the Centre for Galician Studies in Wales (School of Modern Languages and Cultures), Literature Across Frontiers and Wales International Poetry Festival, as part of the Literary Europe Live programme on the launch of Six Galician Poets by Arc Publications
